PERFORMANCE HIGHLIGHTS

President J. Craig Buse commented, "Springs Valley continues to focus on relationship-oriented community banking while following our Mission Statement and staying true to our Core Values. This approach has resulted in a healthy 1.05% ROAA year to date. We are seeing margin compression begin to stall, seemingly at its bottom, as the Fed has begun decreasing the fed funds target rate. With this in mind, we remain optimistic regarding the Bank's future performance as we expect margin expansion to be on the horizon as the Bank's cost of funds is poised to drop, and asset quality continues to hold up very well."

CEO Jamie Shinabarger concurred and added, "It's been an eventful year in banking so far in 2024 given the inverted yield curve, elevated interest rates, stubborn inflation, international concerns, and the recent presidential election just to name a few things. Springs Valley continues to strategically pivot when necessary to reposition our balance sheet and realign our various initiatives to make the most of this ever-changing external environment. However, with that said, as President Buse noted, one thing that remains constant through it all is the Bank's Mission...to enhance the financial quality of life in our communities by focusing on you."
